NEVER.

Not long ago, on an English steamer, our days out from Liverpool, a small boy was found lying away behind the cargo. He had neither father nor mother, brother nor sister, friend, nor protector among either passengers or crew. Who was he? Where did he come from? Where going? On y nine years old; the poor little stranger, with ragged clothes and a beautiful face, full of innocence and truth. Of course he was carried before the first mate.

"How came you to sea a passage on board, this ship?" asked the mate staring.

"My stepfather put me in," answered the boy; "he said he could not afford to keep me or pay my passage to Malta, where my aunt lives. I want to go to my aunt."

"The mate did not believe the story.

He had often been deceived by stowaways. Almost every ship, one of two days out at sea, men or boys conceal among the cargo, who try to get a passage across the water without paying for it. And this is often troublesome and expensive. The mate suspected some of the sailors, and, finding the boy's escape, and treated him pretty roughly. Day after day he was questioned about his coming, and it was always the same story—noting ess, nothing more. At last the mate got out of patience, as mates will, and seizing him by the collar to catch him unless he confessed the truth in ten minutes, he would hang him to the yardarm—a right threat indeed.

"Poor child, with not a friend to stand by him! Around him were passengers and sailors of the mid-day watch, and before him the stern first officer, with his watch in hand, counting the tick-tick, tick of the minutes as they swiftly went. There he stood, pale and sorrowful, his heart erect, and tears in his eyes; but afraid? No, not a bit!

"Eight minutes were a ready gone.

"Only two minutes more to live," cried the mate. "Speak the truth and save your life, boy."

We are authorized to announce Mr. A. J. BRIGHAM, of Pueblo, as a candidate for Sheriff of El Paso County at the ensuing election, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

We are authorized to announce Mr. PETER BECKER, of Pueblo, as a candidate for Sheriff of El Paso County at the ensuing election, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

President Grant and party left the continent yesterday for London.

Lieutenant Governor Salter, of Kansas, having resigned, Gov. Anthony decides that the President of the Senate succeeds to the office, and no appointment to fill the vacancy is necessary.

The labor troubles still continue in some parts of Pennsylvania. Within a few days 7,000 coal miners have struck, and so serious is the outlook in consequence that Governor Hartranft has called out two regiments of militia.

The Imperial Government of China has issued an edict against the use of opium, declaring that it was being distributed upon the Chinese people. In addition to the home production of opium is imported into China to the value of $4,000,000.

A land case involving the title of the State of Kansas to over 200,000 acres of land, being the aggregate of the grant to the State under act of 1861 admitting Kansas into the Union, has been decided by the Interior Department in favor of the State of Kansas.

The courts have not entirely ceased to build railroads. During the first six months of the present year 203 miles were constructed, adding to the total, including 164 miles, or nearly one-half of the whole. Texas built 132 miles, Ohio 62 miles, New Jersey 50 miles, New York 45 miles, Colorado 27 miles, New York 25 miles, Illinois 20 miles, all other States 153 miles. Of the whole, 283 miles were narrow gauge.

Butterfield is about to allow the company to move its line to go on without much of a loss. He has written a letter to a friend, the publication of which will doubtless surprise and offend him, which ought to suit even the leaders of the Fair Communion. The necessary, contrary to the one political movement has resulted in giving to his rival a decided defeat.

The voters of Colorado have four years to decide upon the most suitable location for the permanent capital of the Continental State. It ought to be a fragment of that time to select a large number of them that no other place can offer the advantages possessed by Colorado Springs. The American Intimate that Denver may not be a candidate for the prize four years hence, being strengthened by the advantages that the city does not seriously expect to retain.

Some of the Eastern papers are strongly advocating the annexation of the whole or part of Mexico in order to secure the rich gold and silver mines of that country. If they would only take the trouble to look into the resources of their own country they would learn that it is not necessary to go as far as Mexico to mine gold and silver. The mines of Colorado can furnish employment to much of the unemployed capital and labor of the country, and both are safer here than they will be in Mexico for many years to come.

We believe it is the intention of both political parties in El Paso County to nominate stock tickers at the coming convention, and present before the people a clear alternative that is usual to party lines. As the Republican ticket will be elected by a large majority, it behooves that party to nominate good men for the several positions to be filled, and then give them an earnest support at the polls. We hope that this fall's election will place El Paso County still higher on the list of the Republican strongholds in the State.

Much anxiety is felt in England in consequence of the increase of the cattle plague, particularly in the vicinity of London. The committee of the House of Commons that has had the subject under consideration, recommends the absolute prohibition of the importation of cattle from Germany, Russia, and Belgium, and that those imported from other countries be slaughtered at the place of landing. The American Consul at London thinks that the greatest caution should be adopted to prevent the spread of the disease to the United States.

An organ of effort is being made by the people of Anderson, Franklin, Johnson, Douglas, and Leavenworth Counties, Kansas, to repudiate their bonds. Of course assertions that the bonds are fraudulent and not worth the paper they are printed upon, are freely made by the very men who would have been the first to resist such imputations upon their legality when the question of their issuance was before the people. The voting of bonds by counties and towns to private corporations should be prohibited in every State in the Union, as it is in Colorado, not only because of the crushing burdens that it fastens on the people, but because it breeds dishonesty. There is certainly no difference between the turpitude that seeks to repudiate a just public obligation, and that which refuses to pay a grocery bill.

During the last week in October the Kellogg-Cary Concert Company will give two concerts in Denver, provided $2,500 is subscribed before that time. The concerts will consist of sacred and classic music, ballads, and operatic music. The company comprises Clara Louise Kellogg, soprano; Annie Louise Cary, contralto; Mr. Graft, tenor; Signor Viridi, baritone; Mr. Cony, basso; S. Behrens, conductor. Price of tickets will be $3 each for one concert, or $5 each for both, and may be had of J. B. Colwell, postoffice box 2775, Denver. Several hundred dollars have already been pledged; and the first to purchase tickets have first choice of seats. If the whole amount is not subscribed by one month from today money will be refunded to subscribers. The D. & K. G. will give excursion rates on the occasion of the concert.

England is at last shocked by the terrible atrocities perpetrated on the Danube. The Hungarians again call out in thunder tones for immediate interference by the great powers. The English and Austrian papers teem with expressions of horror and call upon all civilized nations to stop a step to the war; in fact all Europe is convulsed, and why? Because we can scarcely write such is our pain and horror—because two Turks have been murdered at Conla. Two Turks! Just think of it. Murdered perhaps in cold blood. No wonder that, in the words of the dispatch, "but carries the awful intelligence to the ears of a shuddering world, no wonder that a panic prevails in Conla, that the Turks are flocking into town armed to the teeth, demanding revenge, and that the situation looks critical. Let not the duty of demanding revenge upon the wretches who murdered these "two Turks" be confined to their outraged comrades. Let all the nations of Europe who are standing on one leg busily engaged in preserving the balance of power, unite in demanding that adequate punishment be meted out to the slaughterers of these two innocents. Let England, France, and Austria see that a few thousand Christians are at once turned over to their throats may be cut in true Turkish style. If any pregnant women or little children can be found in Bulgaria who have thus far escaped previous Turkish demands for satisfaction, let them be handed over at once to the friends of the "two Turks" to be ripped open or hanged by the necks or pavements of Conla. It is the duty of Christian Europe to see that "two Turks" cannot be murdered with impunity.

A BRILLIANT LESSON IN POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Many persons whose knowledge of finance is but skin deep imagine that contraction of the medium of exchange is only brought about by the lessening of the volume of greenbacks, national bank notes, and metallic money. This is a great mistake. The contraction of the kind of money named has been comparatively slight since 1870; but the contraction of negotiable paper, book accounts, etc., which to all intents and purposes are money, performing the functions of money as fully as bank notes or gold, has been going on since the beginning of the panic to an extent beyond computation. Whenever A ceases to accept the promissory note of B, or to allow him a book credit for the amount of his purchases, the medium of exchange is contracted to the extent of the line of credit previously allowed B. Those who have a knowledge of the immense volume of business formerly done on the credit system, represented by notes of hand and simple book-entries, and are aware of the change in the method of doing business that has taken place within three years, can form some idea of the currency contraction that has resulted therefrom. We say "currency contraction," for as the credit system is contracted, as notes of hand and book-entries are done away with, more bank notes or coin are needed to replace them, and if not supplied, business will inevitably suffer.

CONSUMPTION IN NEW YORK.

An intelligent and observing New York correspondent of an Eastern journal thinks that the coming winter will certainly witness much trouble among the working people of that city. Every branch of labor is organizing with the view of compelling concessions to the demands which they propose to make within a month or two. The wives of the laborer appear to be more desperately in earnest than the husbands, and when some of the coal-dockers in the recent strike returned to work they were attacked and driven from the docks by their wives, who, with the fortitude which distinguishes the sex, are willing to suffer the pangs of starvation rather than that their husbands should submit to the terms offered by employers.

VIEW OF THE CONDITION AND WORTH OF MEN.

At a meeting of the textile manufacturers of the West, held in Chicago on the 20th ultimo, the following resolution, offered by A. J. Ray, of Jaxville, Wisconsin, was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we consider the remuneration of silver as an important means towards the re-establishment of industrial prosperity, and that we urge upon Congress the restoration of the old silver dollar to its vacant place in our currency system.

At the same meeting the President of the Association, George S. Bowen, esp. of Chicago, said among other things that he was in favor of the re-monetization of silver, and he wanted the voice of the people to go up in thunder for it, to show that there was such a country as the West.

THE STRONG PLANKS FOR REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

Resolved, That we are in favor of a highly protective tariff upon everything that can be produced in the United States, and the admission, free of duty, of tea, coffee, spices, certain dry stuffs, and all other exclusively foreign products, believing that such a policy would, within a very brief period, start into renewed activity all the industrial interests of the country, give full employment to labor at fair prices, and secure to the American farmer a market for his crops at home, thus avoiding the necessity for shipping them thousands of miles, at great expense, to foreign consumers.

Resolved, That all governmental efforts to bring about the redemption of specie payments should be for the present ceased, and be recommenced, if at all, only when the varied interests of the country shall have become so prosperous that they can be handicapped for a season without being prostrated or ruined.

Resolved, That silver should be re-monetized and made a legal tender in any amount for all debts public and private.

THE INDIAN Famine.

Probably few of those who have read the many but brief dispatches from India relative to the famine that has prevailed over an immense and thickly populated portion of that country for over eight months, have given to the subject much consideration. It is probably human nature to regard but lightly the sufferings of those who are far removed from us, not only by many thousands of miles of land and water, but by the less material thing that separates the races of men. The heart of every philanthropist on earth, however, must be wrung with pity and sorrow by the terrible sufferings of the twenty-seven millions of human beings who have for nearly a year been actually famishing. An eye-witness of the distress prevailing in Bombay, Madras and adjoining districts says "the tottering step, the sunken eye, the projecting bones, the general aspect of indescribable woe, tell the sad tale of suffering that prevails here." The present Indian famine is not the result of the failure of the last crop only. In fact such is the magnitude of the crops during a season generally favorable that one complete failure does not breed a famine. The early cessation of the rains in the autumn of 1873 caused irreparable injury to the crops in the greater part of Bengal, and great distress prevailed over an area of 212,000 square miles, with a population of 34,000,000 of inhabitants. Copious rains fell during February, 1874, and the crop gathered during the month of March of that year relieved for the time being the sufferings of the people. Other portions of the country, with an area of 20,000 square miles and a population of 10,000,000, suffered greatly during the autumn of 1874, and a still larger area in 1875. The crops of last year were fair, but coming after a period of famine, were closely consumed or sold to meet the accumulated wants of many millions of people. The country was in no condition to meet the appalling famine of the present year, caused by the ligations of the monsoon rains last autumn. Although the British government is doing all that it can to relieve the distress now so generally prevalent in India, the insufficiency of these efforts is shown by the fact that over five hundred thousand souls have perished by starvation, and the mortality, according to the latest reports, still continues. In order that a comparison can be drawn between the famine of this and those of recent years, we append a statement showing the years during which these disastrous visitations have occurred, and the area and population of the region affected—

Year.	Square Miles.	Population.
1837 . . . . .	30,000 to 25,000 . . .	8,500,000 . . .
1861 . . . . .	16,267 . . . . .	15,688,000 . . .

A BRILLIANT LESSON IN POLITICAL ECONOMY.

Two others for James B. Aiken are advertised as uncanceled in the Silver portion of office.

There will be a special meeting of the City Council this evening to consider the Monument case matter.

Last Saturday Mr. Wm. Busi supplied 248 oaves of bread to the Manitou men, and a wagon-load to customers in this city.

Services at the Y. B. Church South to-morrow morning. A funeral sermon will be preached in memory of Mrs. A. E. Wiley by Rev. Milton A. Carr.

A man has been employed by Mr. Oscar Zahner to take his place in the saddle and harness store on Euclid Street while Mr. Zahner is recruiting in the San Juan Country.

The social that was to have been held at the Y. B. Church last Thursday evening was postponed until next Thursday evening, August 30. Don't forget it, and be sure to go.

At Grace church the Rector will officiate to-morrow morning and evening. The evening lecture will be the concluding one of the series on "Moses and Modern Science." Mr. Walker will also officiate at Manitou at 3:30 p. m.

On and after next Saturday fresh oysters will be in season. The enterprising man who receives the first lot will be sure to get the rest of the GAZETTE know it—or, if he can't he will not be so smart as the oysters themselves.

The Deaf-Mute Institute will open for the reception of pupils on Wednesday, September 12. This institution, it will be remembered, has been incorporated as an "Institute for the Mute and Blind," but it will not be open for pupils of the latter class until the beginning of the year 1878.

To ride a horse without bracing the foot requires a thorough knowledge of the back-saddle. This is just the education that Mr. J. A. Hay possesses. You can take your horse to him with perfect confidence that the shoes will be put on to stay and will not amaze the animal.

The Phenological Journal is on hand promptly for September, with an article on Secretary of the Navy Richard M. Johnson, accompanied by a photograph of the officer from the ragging Warrent. There is also a much larger number than usual of other illustrations. The number is above rather than below the average, and will be useful with interest by a most any one.

We agree to any man, woman, or child to know if he, she, or it ever saw more perfect grass and nights than we have at this week. Delicious cool they have been; a velvet sun by day, veiled only by the size which a of us remember as common to Indian summer, and a bright, full moon by night, painting the stars, and making the mountains look grand, gloomy, and mysterious.

We learn from the real estate dealers in town that the demand for property, improved and unimproved, is greatly increasing. In order to secure homes for the winter new-comers are offering higher rentals for choice property than the same are now bringing, and those who have been waiting to get out on their own terms are exhibiting some uneasiness in consequence of the advancing prices.

The Missouri Valley Times, of Iowa says that Dr. W. A. E. and his family are coming here to live. It gives the Doctor the following handsome sentiment: "The people of Colorado Springs have been fortunate in securing so valuable an acquisition to their young city, and we take great pleasure in commending him to their warmest consideration, assuring them that he is worth the confidence of all."

On our table we find an elegant printed and interesting book. It is a "Hand book of Wyoming, Back to the Big Horn Regions," written and published by Capt. S. Strahorn, special correspondent of the Chicago Tribune with Gen. Crook's different expeditions in the Big Horn and Yellowstone regions. The book contains 275 pages, handsomely illustrated. Price, in elegant cloth binding, $2 per copy; in paper covers, $1.50. Sent post-paid on receipt of price. Address Capt. S. Strahorn, Cheyenne, Wyoming.

The lucky man this time is Mr. Amos C. Ginter. His brother, E. C. Ginter, writes from Minnesota that they two will have a share of one hundred and eighty-four parts of an estate estimated at one hundred and eighty-two millions of dollars, which has been discovered as belonging to the family in Poland. Mr. Amos C. Ginter's home is in this city, but he and two sons have been living down at Las Animas for some years, where they have a large herd of cattle. The letter was published in the Denver Tribune of Wednesday, and on Thursday Mrs. Ginter left for Las Animas to convey the good news to her husband and sons. The GAZETTE hopes there is no mistake, and that Mr. Ginter may soon come into possession of his fortune.

We are requested to state, on the part of the executive committee of Colorado College, that much of the first installment of $10 per cent. on subscriptions to the building fund, due on the 1st ult., remains unpaid. The second installment is now just due also, and the committee most urgently request that subscribers will pay in their installments in order that the building committee may see their way to contract for the stone for the superstructure as soon as possible. The foundation stone is on the ground and will be laid at once. Those persons who own carries and better write to and immediately remit some portion of the $10 per cent. and $100 per cent. to the building committee, if they have any desire to apply the stone for the superstructure.

Business in a lines continues good. The first coat of paint has been put on Mr. Jackson's house on Weber Street.

El Paso County cheese—"No skimm milk about it; rich and mild"—is advertised by a Canadian firm.

Rev. C. W. Sargent has placed on our table the minutes of the M. E. Conference, recently adjourned in Denver.

The gross earnings of the Denver and Rio Grande Railway for the week ending August 14, 1877, were $19,238.99.

We have added to our advertisers Mr. E. A. Mars, the upholsterer. His notices will be observed under the head of "Business Items."

Rev. Henry Eubie, of Ann Arbor, Michigan, will preach at the Congregational Church to-morrow morning and evening at the usual hours.

Pupils who failed to pass the examination at close of last term will be allowed an examination by Prof. Parker on the 7th of September instead of August 31, as heretofore announced.

A fine cistern has been put on the premises of Mr. Julius Van in this city. We believe there are not more than a dozen cisterns in the town. Of these, Mr. S. Greenway has the largest.

In another column may be seen the advertisement of Mr. F. J. Rouse's outfit for taking parties on mountain and picnic trips. He has everything necessary for the comfort of campers, and his terms will be found very reasonable.

The excavation for Colorado College is about completed, and on Tuesday next the contract for building the basement was to be given out. The balance of the stone work will be set as soon as the plans for the elevation are received from the East.

There will be services at Unity Church to-morrow morning and evening at the usual hours. Morning subject—"Ghosts"; evening subject—"The Loom of Life." This is the last Sunday that Mr. W. E. Cope and wife occupy the pulpit here.

For their trade in this city S. Leonard & Co. are having made up to order a lot of the finest cassimeres and coats. The goods will be a long time to come, and will be sold at such remarkably low figures that there will be no excuse for any man going without a nice Sunday suit.

It is a common sight now to see a gent man having his measure taken for a suit of clothes at Mr. C. M. Beck's merchant tailoring establishment, on Marion Street. It is merits as an artistic tailor or becoming known to the people who want good material made up to fit their slender forms and at reasonable rates.

An almost perfect specimen of a pettifogger is in the possession of Mr. W. A. Conant, of this city. It shows the eyes, gls, mouth, scales, and where the corns, in and tail have been broken off. The pettifogger was found about 12 miles south-west of Pueblo, and will be sent for exhibition to the Suffolk County, N. Y., air.

A Mr. E. S. of Nebraska, after visiting the school for mutes in that and other States, has decided to locate in Colorado Springs, as he wishes to educate his sons who are going to that unfortunate case may have the advantages of the institute at this place. This is a decided compliment to the management of our Colorado mute school.

Patner J. Jencer, pastor pro tem. of the Catholic Church at this place, will hold morning service at the church to-morrow at 10 o'clock; Sunday-school and afternoon prayers at 3 o'clock. The church is in the south-western part of town, on or near Cascade Avenue. Services will be held hereafter at this place and Manitou on alternate Sundays.

During Mr. Chas. Stearns' absence in San Juan a competent cutter from a merchant tailoring establishment in Chicago will be at his post, prepared to fit any customer to a suit. The assortment of goods on the counters is the largest ever seen in the city, and the opportunity to procure a fine dress suit or a good business suit at bargain prices has never been so good as now.

The list of candidates announced, we this week add the name of Mr. A. J. Becker, who is too well known to the citizens of El Paso County to need any introduction from the GAZETTE. Mr. Becker submits his name to the Republican County Convention, and if his friends are numerous enough to name and elect him as sheriff he will faithfully discharge the duties of the office.

An exchange remarks: We don't understand why it is that a constable with a search warrant, looking for whisky in a temperance town, can scarcely or five acres and never get a smile, while a city and thirsty man in the same town steps out of his office, walks briskly away, and in three minutes is seen emerging from an adjacent alley, wiping his perspiring mouth with his hand.

Appleton's Journal for September has three illustrated articles—one on "Charles River," a second on "Eton College," and another on the "Tyro and the Tyroese." There is also a romantic piece by A. rec. Fredericks to a dramatic poem called "The Last Banquet," based on an incident in the French Revolution. A very promising new novel is begun, called "By Ceia's Arbor," written conjointly by Walter Besant and James Rice, authors of "Ready Money Mortiboy" and "The Golden Buttery." There is a paper on "Charles Kingsley and his School," by Mr. S. L. Burlingame; and Constantine Venimore Woodson is among the contributors to the poetry. There are several other papers, and we find editorial departments, making a rich budget for the quarter of a Coloradoan.

More new goods have arrived at Savage & Morance's this week.

Mr. Irving Howbert's residence has received a new coat of paint; Mr. Joseph Humphrey's cistern.

The upholstering establishment of Mr. J. B. Stockbridge has been removed to the brick block on the south side of Euclid Street.

Mr. Chas. Caverer has the misfortune, while at a picnic recently, to become poisoned by some vine or plant with which he came in contact.

A beautiful lot of fine cutery from the Mexican Company has been received at Mr. W. E. Tilton's grocery store. It will repay any one to step in and look at the goods, even if he can't want to purchase.

Great improvements have been made at the nursery of Mr. Wm. Carr. Several new hot houses have been erected, and the yard is full of cypresses, geraniums, and other handsome blooming plants.

The conference of the M. E. Church South, to be held at Denver, assigned Rev. Milton A. Carr to the Las Animas charge. This leaves the Colorado Springs and Divice Circuit to be supplied.

A company has been organized to encourage the propagation of trout and other game fish in San Antonio Lake and the Gunnison River above the falls. Mr. Addison Danforth and Mr. S. A. McIntire are two of the incorporators.

Mr. Peter Becker, the present incumbent, is a candidate for re-election to the office of sheriff of El Paso County, subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention. His announcement appears under the proper heading.

About next Friday Dr. C. E. Reynolds expects to return from his campaigning tour, after which time he will be prepared to attend to the wants of customers. Persons who need the services of a competent dentist will please take notice.

Harper's Magazine for September is distinguished not only by the beauty of its illustrations, of which there are nearly one hundred, and the interest which attaches to every article in its contents, but also by its remarkable variety—touching upon every field with which it is possible for a magazine to concern itself.

A pupil who failed in no more than two ranches, at the close of the last term, and will give satisfactory proof of having devoted a reasonable amount of time to study during vacation as a preparation for examination, and who intend to enter school next term that have not been examined, will have an opportunity to enter an examination on Friday, September 7, at the school-house.

The voters of El Paso County will find the names of those citizens who are candidates for the various offices to be filed at the October election, registered at the head of the first column on the second page of the GAZETTE. If a man has qualifications which fit him for the office he desires to fill, he will not fail to make known his candidacy through the columns of the paper which reaches the firesides of this pleasant neighborhood. Gentlemen candidates, here is your opportunity.

Notice is hereby given that a meeting of the Republicans of Precinct No. 6 will be held at the City Hall, Saturday, September 8, 1877, at 7:30 p. m., for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend the El Paso County Republican Convention, to be held at Colorado Springs, September 15, 1877; also for the nomination of a justice of the Peace, Constable, and Road Overseer, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before the meeting.

By order of the Committee.
J. B. HUMPHREY, Chairman.

Scribner's September contains 98 illustrations accompanying eight papers. Dr. E. O. and "Nicholas Vinture" will enclose next month. Edward Beamy contributes a short story entitled "Cooking Water-moons." A special feature of the "Home and Society" department is Maurice Thompson's reply in general to the host of letters he has had about his paper on "How Shooting" in the July Scribner.

The publishers say that the demand for this number on account of that article has almost exhausted the edition. Mr. Thompson's present article is slow to make bows, arrows and bow-strings, and also how to shoot, with miscellaneous suggestions to archery clubs. The other departments have the usual variety.

Miss E. A. Beecher returned from her visit to Ohio on Thursday afternoon. A German Braquury and family returned from their extended mountain trip last Saturday.

J. F. Crowe has sent in his resignation of the office of Deputy U. S. Revenue Collector of the third division, district of Colorado; the same to take effect on the first of September.

Mr. E. W. Jones, the new clerk at the Adams House, has been called south to visit a sick friend, and his place is filled temporarily by Mr. Joseph T. Snow, late of Providence, Rhode Island.

Though not attended with any danger the trip to the Peak is one that most persons do not care to take twice in the same season. We hear, however, that Mr. W. E. Jones has determined upon making the ascent again.

Messrs. Chas. Stearns, Oscar Zahner, and J. M. Bolton will leave Monday for a month of hunting, fishing, and camping among the mountains. They expect to visit most of the towns in the San Juan region during their absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford, of Philadelphia, have shipped their household goods to this city and will come out here to live. Mr. Rutherford is a retired naval engineer. They will be welcomed as a valuable addition to Colorado Springs society.

THE SUFFRAGE CAMPAIGN.

The suffrage campaign in this State will open at once, and will be prosecuted with the utmost activity until the day of election. Mrs. Margaret Campbell has already visited most of the towns in South-east Colorado, and has posted the pickets and given them the countersign—Equal rights to all who bear equal burdens.

Lacy Stone and her husband, Henry B. Baker, left Boston last Monday for Denver, and will at once engage in the work with all their energy. They will be reinforced by Miss Matilda C. Hinchman, of Pittsburg; Leila Partridge, of Philadelphia; and Susan B. Anthony, of Rochester, N. Y.

With these and our home workers in the field every voter in Colorado will have an opportunity to hear the arguments in favor of conferring the ballot upon woman—and Colorado men are not the kind to refuse to listen to arguments and be governed by blind prejudice.

We wish the movement the fullest measure of success.

OUR STREETS.

COLORADO SPRINGS, AUG. 22, 1877.
To the Editor of the Gazette.

A paragraph in your last issue touching the names of streets in this city gives me courage to speak for myself and others on the same subject—one which I have heard frequently discussed—for the attention of strangers is quickly drawn to that pertinent, tasteful piece of making the streets of Colorado Springs as characteristic and individual as the other features which so distinguish it from most places.

No visitor can remain long in your beautiful city without becoming personally interested in the charming place, as well as delighted with its many attractions.

With no fault-finding spirit, but an earnest wish that there may not be cause for unfavorable criticism in the future, even upon such a matter, I cite some to which exception has been taken—Weber, Dale, Wilkmette—and as why the original plan of giving the beautiful Indian and Spanish names was not carried out in each instance? The names quoted are good enough in themselves and for some places, but no way a appropriate in connection with majestic Pike's Peak, Kiowa, Wahsatch, Cheenne, or musical Costilla, Euclid, Eton, Cochran, San Rafael, etc.

There are still so many rivers and mountains not represented in these three-line streets and avenues that I hope your influence will be used to have the few names not in consonance with the whole scene dropped from the list and others substituted.

COLORADO COLLEGE.

Professor F. H. Loud, a graduate of Amherst College, and recently Walker instructor in mathematics at that institution, arrived in town last Tuesday to enter upon his work as instructor in Colorado College. The corps of instruction for the next academic year, three professors and one assistant teacher, are now all on the

A STATE'S LOCAL MARK ON HARD

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Politicians and political economists have and they say respecting the causes of the financial depression now afflicting our country, and have given us their prescriptions for relief. In their utterances there is about as much of agreement as there usually is among quack practitioners respecting the nature of the disease of a sick man, and the proper remedies for his recovery. As every one has a right to show his opinion, I propose to offer mine in a little practical home talk on an important item of economy.

In ordinary communities about one-fourth of the inhabitants are males above the age of eighteen years, giving, in a city of three thousand inhabitants, a stout seven hundred and fifty such persons, two-thirds of whom, on an average, are addicted to the habit of smoking or chewing tobacco, or both. I will, I think, be air to assume that at least one-half of this number, viz., 250, habitually smoke cigars, while the other 250 use tobacco only in pipes. As I am not aiming at statistical exactness, I will assume the above figures as approximately true, and proceed to examine their economical bearings. Suppose each cigar smoker to use on an average a dozen cigars, which is a moderate allowance, and the average cost is on ten cents each. This would make the tobacco consumer to pay costs of fifty cents a day to each smoker. What will be the summing up? Look at it: 250 smokers at 50 cents a day, $125.00 a day 250 smokers at 50 cents a day, $125.00 a day Total amount per day, $250.00

Total per week, $1,750.00
Total per year, $31,500.00
Thirty one thousand eight hundred and fifty dollars! A nice little fortune annually, blown away in smoke by the people of one little city! A confagration smothered away the same amount of property in the city every year, it would just be regarded as a fire calamity, calling for more efficient and energetic arrangements for water, and other fire extinguishing appliances, to guard against the recurring disasters. The expenditure of $31,500.00 of $40,000.00 to bring Bear Creek into the city would be very quickly and cheerfully voted by the citizens. But to quench a fire that burns up over $31,500.00 annually in the gratification of a foolish and injurious habit requires no such outlay—no burden of taxes, no point of cutting for annual or semi-annual interest. A little self-control, a little restraint, and assertion of individual responsibility, to break the chain of a vicious habit, and this immense expenditure, now worse than water, would be saved for investment in business, and for the good of the community.

AN INDIAN CHIEF KILLED.

Mr. T. P. Miller, who returned from Ouray Tuesday last, gave us the following account of the killing of a chief of Ignacio's band, at Ouray's house, on the 8th instant, by Concho, the Medicine Man of the Utes, and the right bower of Ouray. On the day mentioned the chief entered Ouray's house and began a quarrel with him relative to the disposition of the land made over to the government by the Utes, objecting to the terms, and claiming that Ouray had usurped authority in the matter. The chief was repeated to that the sale was bona fide and could not be retracted or altered. At this he became furious and showed warlike demonstrations, whereupon Concho advanced to him and stabbed him twice, once in either breast. The chief then ran out of the house and mounted a horse belonging to Ouray, and near the house. Concho then seized a rifle lying near, and fired at the retreating chief, bringing down the horse he was riding. Reaching his rifle he approached the chief, who was too weak from loss of blood to escape, and packing the muzzle near his head, fired, killing him instantly. The body and two horses were left, and was then strangled on the lack of a pony or two Mexicans and many Indians, who conveyed it across the Uncompagme for burial. Members of the band to which the murderer belonged onged information, and the store keeper at that place, that the followers of the chief were very much incensed and exasperated, and advised him to take precautions, or the safety of himself and comrades, and they also by sleeping on their arms that night, but no further disturbance occurred. Silverton World, Aug. 18.

THE DENVER & RIO GRANDE RAILWAY.

A good practice, still pursued in some States, but not now in vogue in Illinois, is the publication in one or more papers of each county of a new law, shortly after their passage. These newspapers are of course, for such publication is an advertisement. It was not, however, on that account that we speak of the practice as a good one. Several having occasion to ascertain for one of our various provisions of an act just passed by our State Legislature, we wrote to the Secretary of the State for a copy, intending, as a matter of course, to publish an abstract of its provisions. The answer we received from Mr. Harlow was that a certified copy of the act in question would be sent to us on receipt of fees—$3.50. A printed copy of the bill ought not to cost more than three cents, and would have answered every practical purpose. The fee, therefore, which multiplies that cost by a hundred, and neglects to provide any means for disseminating such information among the people, has our unqualified disapproval. A live newspaper ought to be, and generally is, at times willing to pay for news, but scarce to pay an exorbitant price for material that the State ought certainly to furnish free to all who were willing to publish it. Gallia Journal.

THE DENVER & RIO GRANDE RAILWAY.

The San Juan Prospector, referring to the denial of a motion for the appointment of a receiver for the Denver and Rio Grande Railway, says:— "It would be an unfortunate move for the interests of Colorado and the San Juan country, especially, to have this enterprising company pass into the hands of a receiver, for that implies no further construction of the road, and we are glad the motion was denied. The affairs of the company are better managed for all concerned than they could be by a receiver, and it would be a wrong to the proprietors and managers of the road to take it out of their control. It is now about six years since the road was commenced by the present management at Denver as an experiment in gauge, and in that time they have demonstrated the superiority of narrow over wide gauge roads for Colorado, and have built a virtually inaccessible region without State or National aid, and have to pay the longest line of narrow gauge road, and surmounted the highest elevation with it on the American continent. "The increasing business of the San Juan country and the necessity of getting further away from the A. T. & S. F. was so apparent that last fall, the extension of the road across the mountains into the San Luis Valley was determined upon, and, notwithstanding the employees and bond-holders have had their hopes deferred, yet the large increase in receipts—nearly a hundred per cent—attest the advantages gained by its extension. "The importance of this road to Southwestern Colorado is inestimable, and now that the financial affairs of the company are satisfactory, and the earnings so large, it is reasonable to expect soon to see it extended still further, and although the Norte is hardly able to do a great deal in the construction of the road inasmuch as we are prohibited from crawling on the future, yet we do not hesitate to affirm that the road is in a better power to have the road brought here, and when it comes will contribute more to increase its receipts than any point from one end of the line to the other."

Sir William Macdonald declares that the human laws derive their binding force solely from their divine origin, and must command what is right, and prohibit what is wrong, and no laws are valid if contrary to God's laws. "And he does not regulate or license crime, or prohibit, as in the commandments, saying, 'Thou shalt not kill,' 'Thou shalt not steal.' "Therefore, all enactments that license the traffic in strong drink are wrong, because they are at variance with the divine law, which is 'Woe unto him that giveth his neighbor drink, that putteth the bottle to him and maketh him drunken also.' "Laws prohibiting the sale of intoxicating beverages under such a condemnation are just. "And it cannot in ringe upon the right of our own citizens to suppress the manufacture and sale of any article the use of which is productive of evil."

On all East bound shipments we offer special inducements. The favorite City and Hill Line. Through bills of lading issued and every advantage offered. Mark and Consign "Care Kansas Pacific Co."
